Editor's Note

Dear Parents,

Hi everyone, I am Principal Chan! I am glad in joining Po Leung Kuk Chu Lee Yuet Wah KGN. I am able to learn and grow together with a group of adorable children. Our school's professional team holds "Child-centered" belief, hoping to provide quality care and services for children. We will also work with parents so that children can enjoy a loving, respectable, warm and creative campus life!

A new school year has begun. This year, besides providing quality teaching, the school will also provide systematic curriculum and activities. Through these activities, children are able to learn different emotion and to express that in daily life. The school looks forward to working together with parents and to injecting positive energy in children's life.

PLK Child Care Services' Service Mission & Goal

Social Worker Service

Dear Parents, Hi! I am the school's stationing social worker, Ms. Lee. This year, I will be at school every Monday & Thursday, from 8:45am to 5:30pm, providing support for children and parents.

Student Counselling Service

The social worker will undergo individual and group activities with children for their emotional management, social skills & moral development. This year is going to about life education. Children will learn about positive characters, develop positive self-image, enhance teacher-student relationship for a peaceful campus.

Parent Counselling Service

The social worker provides consultation and counselling services. There will also be occasional parent-child activities, parents' group and parents' talk. Some activities include "Children Eye Protection", Parent-child workshop, "How to Choose the Right School", & "Go to P1 happily".

Parenting Sharing - A Good Use of Encouragement <<See the Sparkle in Children—Alfred Adler's Encouragement Principle>> by Ying-shi Chang

Psychologist Rudolf Dreikurs once said "A child needs encouragement like a plant needs water". The book author Chang introduces the principle of encouragement based on Deikurs' view and clarifies the difference between encouragement and praising. Chang also shares "five rules of encouragement":

1. Affirming special quality and skills

E.g, You are a loving and generous child. You are willing to share your toys with others so that other people can have fun together too.

2. Emphasizing contribution and thankfulness

E.g. Thank you for keeping your little sister's company while Mummy is cooking dinner. That way, your little sister won't come to the kitchen for Mummy and I can finish the cooking as soon as possible.

3. Emphasizing hard work and improvement

E.g. You have spent lots of time practicing going backward with the roller blades. Your skill is getting better and better.

4. Displaying Confident

E.g. You have practiced this story for many times. I am sure you are able to tell an amazing story when you are on stage tomorrow. I have confidence in you. You can do it!

5. Expressing acceptance and recognition

E.g. You are very excited to share your drawing with me. You must be very satisfied with your work.

Parents, let's encourage children more so that they can love themselves and be brave to face the challenges along the way!

New Student Orientation

Rainbow parachute is so fun!

Look at all the craft work we did!

We used recycled materials to make an musical instrument!

We are trying to deliver the ball!

Mid-Autumn Festival Celebration

We made some very unique lanterns!

Lanterns are so fun!

K3 Graduation Ceremony

We will work hard in primary school!

Thank you teachers for the caring.

We are graduates now!

Costume Party cum October Birthday Party

We are the birthday stars of September & October!

So fun to do the catwalk in costume!

We love musical games!

We made some pretty mirrors.

Parents' Volunteer Group

School

Children

Mission

Parents, school and children is an interlocking triangle and each party deeply affecting each other. The establishment of a parents' volunteer group is to form a bridge among parents and the school, hoping to form a mutual communication relationship. Both parents and the school are able to share resources, responsibility, knowledge and ability while maintaining a cooperating spirit.

Parent Volunteer

- Assist in outdoor activities, graduation ceremony, sports day
- Assist in school's basic administrative work

Parents Resource Corner

Parents are the first teachers of children and a crucial element for the school to cultivate children. We have established a "Parents Resources Corner" which displays different books and multi-media resources. We hope parents can have more understanding in children's developmental stages. By knowing children's characteristics in different ages parents can use different counselling methods for a strong foundation in children's learning and development.

Resource Corner Opening Time
Monday to Friday (8:00am to 6:00pm)

Little Parents Teacher

- Share read with children at school for a better understanding of the school environment
- Lead a small group to know children's good friends
